

Teaching Difficult History

In his opening statement at the meeting of the United States Holocaust Memorial Council on May 28, 1980, the late Nobel laureate and Holocaust survivor Elie Wiesel said, “In an age tainted by violence, we must teach this generation and those that follow the origins and consequences of violence. In a society of distrust, skepticism, and moral anguish, we must tell our contemporaries that whatever the answer it must grow out of human compassion and reflect man’s basic quest for justice. The Holocaust was possible because the law was violated by the state itself and its principles distorted by its leaders. From the Holocaust we have learned that we are responsible for one another. We are responsible for the past and the future as well.”

Forty years later, these words still resonate and set the agenda for Holocaust education.

“The Holocaust will always be a moral, social, political, and historical catastrophe that can teach us humans of all ages the value of life and the importance of being mindful of the sufferings of our fellow humans.”

The path to progress is educating today’s youth to leave the world a better place. HERC provides a way to support meaningful educational projects and programs close to understanding Holocaust history. Everything we do today is exponentially more important when it is passed on to the next generation. Teaching history prevents it from being forgotten. Instilling the values of moral leadership and courage ensures they will connect with multi cultures. Helping facilitate lessons about where we could go will always be important. We dedicate time to education, because there is so much to be learned through the teachings of the Holocaust.

“We must always take sides. Neutrality helps the oppressor, never the victim. Silence encourages the tormentor, never the tormented”

Through projects, HERC is helping to teach the importance of Holocaust education. Your contributions make the tools available to provide teachers. Thanks to all the donors that keep supporting the mission.

Don’t forget to visit the exhibit in Carrabelle at Camp Gordon Johnston WWII Museum until August 14th.

Thank You for Your Support,

Barbara

The Holocaust

A New Exhibit Presented by the

in Cooperation with the

The Camp Gordon Johnston WWII Museum will present an exhibit on the Holocaust, the Nazi program to eliminate the Jews of Europe during their reign over Germany from 1933 until their defeat by the Allies in 1945. Tens of thousands of camps were liberated by allied troops, and the horror and cruelty of the Nazi's "Final Solution" was revealed to the world.

Carrying out Hitler's monstrous goals required the cooperation of countless members of the military, ordinary citizens, both German and those of occupied territories, and the governments, churches and journalists of many nationalities. Who were they and why did they participate? Who resisted and saved countless Jews from the camps? Why would this happen in 20th century Europe?

The exhibit will cover the basic facts of the Holocaust: the timeline, persons, victims, and camps as well as commemorating those that risked their own lives to save others. It will cover the efforts of the Jews themselves to fight back against oppression and to maintain their humanity in the face of so much inhumanity. Special artifacts will be on display for this exhibit, almost all newly acquired and not seen before at the museum. Special films will also be offered.

In addition there will be three public speaking events at the Museum given by Linda Davey, Holocaust Historian
